

Emergency Services Update

LtCol David Jadwin
Nellis Cadet Squadron

Overview

- New CAPR 60-3 (May 26, 2004)
 - New (revised) specialties
 - Specialty training requirements
 - What you need to do

New CAPR 60-3

- The new regulation is effective immediately and completely replaces the old CAPR 60-3 (dated May 2001)
- The new 60-3 can be purchased from CAPMART or downloaded from NHQ
<http://level2.cap.gov/index.cfm?nodeID=5403>
- Look for items 'highlighted' in grey to signify changes

Revised Specialties

- Incident Commander, Agency Liaison and Ground Team Member specialties have been split into three levels
- All currently qualified members in these specialties will be immediately rated in the lowest level qualification (level 3)
- Commanders & ES Officers should review the qualifications and upgrade as their members as appropriate
- Members have until 31Aug04 to complete current 101T training and transition to the new CAPR 60-3

Specialty Training Requirements

- New 101T cards must complete specialty training within 24 months – or demonstrate skills again
- Trainees must demonstrate skills to a qualified evaluator using the task guides
- Qualified specialties are valid for 36 months
- Initial qualifications for all specialties are approved at the Wing level
- Renewal of most specialties* are approved by the Unit Commander Some exceptions*

Specialty Training Requirements

- Prerequisites must be completed prior to initiating training requirements
- Members must complete Familiarization and Preparatory training for the specialty before serving in that position on actual or training missions under supervision.
 - Familiarization and preparatory training is the minimum set of tasks that the member must master prior to acting as a supervised trainee on practice or actual missions.
 - Tasks represent those skills that will keep the member safe and allow the member to function under supervision without jeopardizing the mission.

Specialty Training Requirements

- Trainees must complete Advanced Training and participate satisfactorily in two missions before a CAPF 101 is approved and a member is considered "Qualified."
 - This requirement avoids placing personnel not ready to perform certain jobs or those who work for them at risk.
 - Advanced training covers the remainder of the tasks required for specialty qualification.
 - On actual missions, it is expected that these tasks could be accomplished by the trainee's supervisor or other fully trained members if they became critical. Because of this, trainees are allowed to learn these "on the job."

Specialty Training Requirements

- Advanced training continued...
 - These two "missions" do not have to be on different mission numbers, be Air Force assigned or approved, or be completed after advanced training.
 - These sorties must be complete sorties and/or operating periods where the member participates in all aspects of their assigned mission specialty.
 - It is possible to participate in more than one specialty on a given mission or day.

What you need to do...

- Make sure your Commander & ES Officer review your current qualifications in MIMS
- Complete current (old 60-3) 101T card training by August 31 or it will be revoked
- All members must take the new 50 question CAPT116 (General ES Test) before 1 Dec 04. Failure to take the new test will by the deadline will render all current ES qualifications “inactive.”

(The ICS test has not changed & is only required for new testers)

What you need to do...

- Recommend that each member purchase the Task Guide for the specialty they are working on
- In addition to the 101T card, members can use the Specialty Qualification Training Record (SQTR) located at the end of the Task Guide to assist in tracking their training
- Task Guides can be purchased from CAPMart or downloaded from National HQ's website

Steps to Complete ES Specialties

- Complete Level 1 (Srs) or Achievement 1 (Cdts)
- Complete current version of 116 exam
- Unit Commander approves General ES specialty
- For each ES specialty, complete: 1) Prerequisites, 2) Familiarization and Preparatory training, 3) Advanced training, and 4) Participate in two missions as a trainee (all within 24 months)
- Unit Commander recommends specialty to Wing Commander for approval of initial card
- Unit Commander approves renewals for most specialties after 36 months
